Youth Dragged to Death by Large Bus

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A four-year-old boy was killed here yesterday when he fell beneath a bus after clinging desperately to its bumper for five blocks.

Police Chief Jim Mitchum said, little Terry Pierce apparently was in front of the bus when it started up and clutched at the bumper in an effort to avoid being run over. The child dropped off and was run over when the bus turned a corner, Mitchum said.

Bus driver Lloyd Pierce, no relation to the dead child, drove on for about half a mile after the boy fell under the bus. He broke down in tears when told of the tragedy.

Mrs. Charles Matlock drove off the bus when her 16-year-old son, Charles, saw the boy hanging onto the bumper.

Terry, son by a previous marriage of Mrs. C. P. Wackerly Jr., was killed instantly. The rear wheels of the bus passed over his body.

Pierce told police he did not see the child in front of the bus when he started up after a stop to let off Terry and about five girls, cousins of the boy. The bus, owned by the Church of the Nazarene, was taking church members home from services.

Pierce said a girl had waved for him to go on after the passengers got off.

Mitchum said other passengers, including about eight adults, were not aware of the accident until Mrs. Matlock stopped the bus.

The bus is of the type used by schools to carry students. The church uses it for transportation of children and adults to and from church services.

with Mrs. Ray Taylor winning the prize.

A dessert course with coffee was served to 30 members and guests Mrs. C. F. Pedigo, Mrs. Gary Gobba and Mrs. Ray Taylor.

Mrs. George Christopher was a visitor in Hot Springs Wednesday.

Bernard Rephan of Hot Springs was a Wednesday business visitor in Prescott.

Miss June Hines has returned to Ouchita College, Arkadelphia after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hines.

Mrs. Charlie Thomas attended a pneumatic fever clinic in Camden Wednesday.

Miss Bette Wilson returned to Alexandria, La., Wednesday after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wilson.

Friends of Art Reigner will be glad to know he has returned to his home after being a patient in the Cora Donnell Hospital.

Arkansas River Valley Survey Hits a Snag

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A railroad-backed survey of the Arkansas River development program has yielded a report which claims the project is economically unjustifiable.

The Assn. of American Railroads authorized Dr. Cecil B. Haver of the University of Chicago and others to survey the proposed multi-million dollar project.

The report, released in booklet form, claims operation and maintenance costs for shipping would be greater than the expected savings.

The report said barge traffic on the river would have to produce an average savings in shipping costs of $21.91 per ton for an estimated 1,940,000 tons per year if the project is to cover costs associated with the development and operation of the navigation system.

Not even the nation's most navigable waterways approach such savings figures, the report said.

"If the United States builds this navigation project, the annual operation and maintenance costs would be greater than the expected savings."

The booklet is called "An Economic Analysis of the Navigation Proposal for the Arkansas River and Its Tributaries." It was prepared by Dr. Haver and W. B. Back of Oklahoma State University and L. A. Sjastad of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Haver said the grant, issued under the Committee on Waterway Projects of the Assn. of American Railroads, was made with the understanding that the researchers would have complete freedom to develop the analysis "without fetters or restraints."

State to Get 29 New Guard Armories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 2 1/2 million dollar construction program is planned to provide Arkansas' civilian soldiers with 29 new armories.

Of the training centers, 27 would be for the Arkansas National Guard and two for the U.S. Army Reserve.

National Guard armories are planned this year in Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Fayetteville, De Jucen, West Helena, Magnolia, Blythe, West, and 20 other cities.

Each would cost $61,800 except those in Little Rock, Pine Bluff and Fayetteville. The Little Rock project would cost $400,000, the Pine Bluff building $160,000 and the Fayetteville armory $127,000.

If all the armories are built, Arkansas will have 82 such facilities. The Army Reserve center to be built at a cost of $200,000 each, would be in Harrison and El Dorado.

The new armories are planned under a federal law which provides that money for the buildings will come from state and federal funds.

Last year Army Reserve centers were built in Conway, Pine Bluff and Fayetteville at a cost of $555,000. A National Guard armory also was completed in North Little Rock last year.

The last National Guard armory built with state funds alone was completed in Forrest City in 1948.

Leaders Deny a Faubus for President Move

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Southern Democratic leaders have denied any knowledge of a "Faubus for President" movement but a Ruston, La., man says he has a telegram from the Arkansas governor approving efforts to obtain Louisiana delegates.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has not commented on the statement by Tom Igoe.

Igoe said he wrote Faubus and asked if it would "prove helpful to any plans or ambitions you might be entertaining in connection with the Democratic National Convention" if Igoe were named as an unopposed delegate.

A telegram from Faubus in reply, Igoe said, read in part: "I am watching the situation closely. You will have noted the California move. Also I know that efforts are being made in many southern states to secure delegates favorable to me. Therefore, I approve your efforts to secure favorable representation on the Louisiana delegation."

Whether the army accepted these conditions fully was doubtful. De Gaulle, in demanding that the army bring the insurgents under control, had called the rebel leaders liars and conspirators, indicating they could expect little mercy from him.

If the letter of the law were followed, Lagarde and Ortiz probably could be executed for treason, having violently challenged the authority of the state and engaged armed warfare against it. But the insurgent leaders' continued popularity with the French colonials in Algeria ruled out this extreme punishment.

All three Algiers morning newspapers were heavily censored by the authorities. The Algiers press has been openly sympathetic to the revolt against De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria.

(A one-hour general strike last night was called throughout continental France today, but as a demonstration of support for President De Gaulle. All major trade unions—Catholic, Socialist and Communist—supported the demonstration.)

The defenders of the barricaded insurgent strongholds in the heart of Algiers thinned to about 2,000 Sunday night after several hundred territorial guards defected.

Two platoons of 400 men each marched out in military formation, one of them with arms and with its standard. About 500 men trickled out, grimly submitting their identity cards to paratroopers sealing off the insurgent bastion.

Most of those remaining behind the barricades were members of the civilian-military organizations led by ex-paratrooper Pierre Lagarde and Joseph Ortiz, a cafe owner. They spearheaded the uprising a week ago in an effort to reserve De Gaulle's promise to let the Algerian population—excluding its Moslem majority—vote on the North African territory's political future.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife, Doctor, Husband
On Same Toboggan

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I am 25 have been happily married four years. I worked until six months ago, when I took sick. The doctor advised me to have a child. My husband doesn't want a child. He says it's best to finish our home first. The doctor thinks my husband is silly. He wants me to see him other than at his office. Should I say yes or no? Sometimes he is very nice to me; other times very sarcastic. I really like him a lot. I've never told anyone. Should I go back and find out what he means? — Wondering

Dear Dorothy Dix:
It all began when the boy I'm engaged to gave me the ring. I couldn't refuse because it would hurt him. Now I'm mixed up more than ever with the wedding getting close. I like attention from other boys. My friend comes to our house every night. I make supper for him, then he goes to sleep. I wait on him hand and foot. I've thought of breaking off but there's his mother and I love her as much as my own mother. He said that if I ever broke with him he would never marry.

My Mom and Dad think the world of him. To break with him would be losing part of my self, but still — I think of going out with other boys. Please tell me what I should do. I need help awfully bad. — Uncertain

Dear Uncertain: Your boy friend should wake up. It's his fault, not yours, if you think of other boys. You're both too young for this Darby and Joan role. Tell him your hopes, fears and uncertainties, just as you have told me. If you can't, better call it quits now instead of later.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
My boy friend thinks I am stuck up. I don't know what to do. He said he'd like me otherwise. What am I doing wrong? — S. O. S.

Dear S. O. S.: Nothing — If you're being yourself don't take the boy friend's name-calling too seriously. It may be his way of paying you a compliment. At least you've got his attention.

Sund your problem to Dorothy Dix. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

News Trucks Dynamited in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Two strings of parked trucks — which included for Portland's two truck daily newspapers — were blown up late Sunday night in Portland and nearby Oregon City.

Dynamite charges were used to blow up four trucks here, police said, and apparently were used on the six trucks blasted in Oregon City.

The explosions jolted a large area in Portland and Oregon City, 13 miles southwest.

There were no reports of fatalities or injuries.

The explosions here occurred at a warehouse in the heavily industrialized northwest section of the city.

A police demolition squad found an unexploded charge of dynamite in the cab of one truck. Its fuse had gone out.

A spokesman for the Oregonian said the trucks were owned by firms which did contract hauling for the Oregonian and Oregon Journal, the city's two dailies, which were struck Nov. 10 by the Stereotypers Union.

The papers have merged forces and have continued at the Oregonian plant to publish a joint edition despite the strike.

Shortly after the explosions the Oregonian switchboard operator received a call from a man who of awards for merit during the time he published it.

Funk was a Presbyterian.

Survivors include the widow, and two sisters, Mrs. C. J. Greene of Conway and Mrs. H. Edwin Andrews of Philadelphia.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

and a bomb was planted in the building. Police failed to find any explosives.

The first explosions occurred at the Wymore Trucking Co. warehouse in Oregon City. Those in Portland followed minutes later at the Oregon Film Service warehouse.

Seven trucks were parked side by side beside the Wymore warehouse in Oregon City. Two big blasts rocked the area — only six blocks from downtown — and a number of smaller reports followed.

Six of the trucks were destroyed by the explosions and the flames that swiftly curled through the huge vans — which haul paper rolls and can entry 10-ton loads.

Early today, a teen-age boy walked into a precinct station on Portland's southeast side, carrying two charges of dynamite, he said; he found beside a fence miles from the blast scenes. Police were questioning him. One charge contained three layered attacks of dynamite, the other four attacks.

"The explosions were the greatest violence since the strike began."

When the Stereotypers Union struck, most members of other unions at the newspapers decided to observe the "picket line." About 650 persons have been laid off.

Bobcats Drop Game Saturday at Magnolia

By TEDDY JONES JR.

Hope's Senior Bobcats dropped a close 47-45 contest to the Magnolia Panthers while the Junior boys came from behind in the last half to win 42-34 in a pair of District 4 AA Conference tilts played in Magnolia on Saturday night.

On the second straight night the Senior Cats were involved in a fast-break game that went right to the wire. With 25 seconds left in the final period Byron Smiley sank two free throws to tie the contest at 45 all and it looked as if the Cats might be involved in another overtime game. Friday night Hope downed Snarkover, the conference favorite, 45-41 in overtime.

Rankin Magnolia floor guard had other ideas about that and sank a five footer with about 10 seconds left to provide the final margin of victory.

The game was fast and rough and the Cats found themselves at a disadvantage on the small Magnolia court. The contest was actually won at the free throw line with Magnolia scoring 23 points by the charity method, while Hope racked up only 15 from the foul line. In field goals Hope led 10 to 12 in shooting. Altheite, the big, husky, rangy Panther post man was the games high scorer with 17 points and dished the Bobcats most of their misery. He sank five field goals from the post and dropped in 7 free throws as a result of the smaller Cats trying to throttle him. He was death on rebounds and rough off the boards. Baker, Willis, Rankin and Burton rounded out the Panther attack with 8, 7, 6 and 4 points each.

Byron Smiley with 11 points led Hope scorers. In the runnerup spot was Larry Walton with 10, who turned in one of his best shooting nights and was very effective in battling Altheite on the boards.

Other Hope scorers were Thurman and Calhoun with 9 each and Vaughn, Churchwell and Ewin with 2 each.

Magnolia led at the end of the first quarter 9 to 6. The Bobcats were in front at the half 25-20, led 42 to 38 at the third quarter and were outscored 9 to 4 in the final period to come out on the short end of 47 to 45.

Saturday's loss left the Cats 4-2 in conference play. Their other loss was to Crosswell when they came up short 56 to 60.

The Hope Junior Bobcats racked up their ninth consecutive win in downing the Junior Panthers 42 to 34 in Saturday's opener. The win left the young Cats undefeated in 4 AA District play with a 6-0 record.

Magnolia using a fast break and an all court press defense got off to a running start and jumped to a quick 12 to 6 lead at the end of the first quarter and led 23 to 15 at the half.

The Juniors solved the fast break and all court press problem at the half and put together a big third quarter in which the Junior Panthers were outscored 16 to 3.

In the final period Hope scored 11 against 8 to come out on the big end, 42 to 34.

Murphy with 17 points, led Hope scorers and played a good floor and defensive game. Porterfield, with 9 points and deadly effective rebounding turned in one of his best games as did Mac McLarty, with a good floor game and two points.

Dan Jones scored 7 and Tony Purdie 5 with Vince Foster completing the scoring with two free throws.

Friday night, Feb. 5, the local Juniors and Seniors continue conference play by playing return engagements with the Camden Panthers at Jones Field House.

Porks Journey to Lubbock This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There can be some shuffling around the top in Southwest Conference basketball this week with all the leaders facing tough tests and two of them meeting each other.

As the race returns to full speed after a couple of weeks of little activity, Texas A&M leads with a 4-1 record while Arkansas and Southern Methodist are tied for second with 3-1.

The Aggies are on the west coast for games with San Francisco Monday night and Santa Clara Tuesday night. But they come home for a clash with dangerous Texas Tech at College Station Saturday.

Meanwhile, Arkansas will be meeting Texas Tech at Lubbock Tuesday, hoping to topple the Red Riders and set up a showdown battle with Southern Methodist at Fayetteville Saturday.

Southern Methodist must first hurdle Texas Christian. The Mustangs, who fear they will be minus their playmaker, Max Williams, clash with the Christians at Fort Worth Wednesday night. Williams is recovering from a severe ankle sprain and may not be able to play against the Horned Frogs. It is worrying the Methodists very much.

Texas, in fourth place with 3-2, plays North Texas State at Denton Wednesday night, then clashes with Texas Christian at Austin Saturday night in a conference struggle.

Baylor and Rice meet Houston Saturday Night in the other game on the week's schedule.

Only three contests were played last week. In one of them Texas Tech whipped Texas Christian 75-66 in overtime to move into fifth place in the standings and knock TCU down to next to last.

Only Rice is loser in the standings and is the only team that can be considered eliminated from championship consideration. The Owls have lost five conference tests out of five.

Jay Arnette of Texas continues to lead the league in scoring with 27.6 points and he also has the top average—19.6 points per game. Carroll Dawson of Baylor is second with 26.6 points.

Taylor to Join New York Titans
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Re-signation of Arkansas State College's head football coach Hugh (Bones) Taylor to accept a job with the New York Titans was reported imminent today.

Taylor himself said only that he was considering an offer to join the coaching staff of the new American Football League team.

Reliable sources said Taylor's resignation would be announced soon. University officials declined immediate comment.

The sources said Taylor reportedly would receive a salary of $13,000 to $15,000 a year in his new post. This compares to an $8,000 salary, plus free housing, at Arkansas State.

According to the sources, Taylor was offered a three-year contract with the Titans.

Big O Almost Sure to Set Mark Tonight

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Let's put it this way: If Oscar Robertson doesn't become the top three-year scorer in major college basketball tonight, Drake University's defense deserves a special niche in the history of the sport.

The Big O from top-ranked Cincinnati suddenly has been acting like a mere mortal while he creeps up on the all-time three-year varsity mark of 2,538 points. Frank Selvy of Furman established in a career ending in 1954.

In his last two games All-American Oscar has managed but 42 points, a pace considerably reduced from the one that has all but assured him of becoming the most prolific scorer in major collegiate competition.

This time, however, Oscar ought to do it. He goes against Drake in a Missouri Valley Conference game at Cincinnati needing just four points to break the mark Selvy set in 78 games. With 2,535 points in 74 varsity games, Oscar is just 53 away from breaking the all-time career record of 2,587 established in four seasons by Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest ending in 1955.

Whether or not Oscar can pick up his pace, college basketball does this week after a two-week letdown for mid-term examinations. It has a considerably different look as fullscale competition resumes, what with the first major breakthrough having jolted the season-long dominance of the big four of Cincinnati, Bradley, California and West Virginia.

William & Mary's Indians managed the shocker Saturday night with a 94-86 scalp of fourth-ranked West Virginia's 56-game Southern Conference winning streak on a neutral court at Norfolk, Va. Bradley, No. 2, had a close call but came from 10 points behind at the half to nip Marquette in overtime, 62-59.

Of the Big Four, only third-ranked California—now 16-1 after Saturday's 87-48 rout of Oregon State—is playing smoothly. So it's a wide open national scramble with the stretch run for conference titles and tournament berths beginning.

Besides Ohio State, Georgia Tech, Utah and Utah State, Villanova and Texas A&M, regular challengers all along, you might keep an eye on such clubs as North Carolina (9-3), Detroit (14-2), Dayton (15-3) with a seven-game win streak and Toledo (13-2).

Frank McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels, idle for over two weeks, got back to a 25-day run of 10 Atlantic Coast Conference games. The Tar Heels are at Maryland Wednesday in a key game.

Ohio State, unbeaten Big Ten leader with a 13-2 over-all record, plays Michigan tonight and Northwestern Saturday, while Georgia Tech risks its 7-0 Southeastern Conference record Tuesday against Auburn—a club that has tripped the Engineers five straight times over three seasons. Top teners Villanova, Utah, Utah State and Texas A&M also will be busy—Utah against Colorado State U. Friday and Wyoming Saturday, Villanova against Manhattan Thursday and Siena Saturday, Utah State against Denver Friday and New Mexico Saturday, and the Texas Aggies—back after two weeks—against Francisco Monday, Santa Clara Tuesday, and Texas Tech Saturday.

Chamberlain Sets Record at Frisco

By HAPPY JUPITER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Big Wilt Chamberlain left town today with the Cow Palace scoring record but San Francisco fans appeared less than anxious for a National Basketball Assn. franchise.

Wilt the Stilt scored 41 points Sunday to lead the Philadelphia Warriors to a 114-104 win over the Minneapolis Lakers.

The same teams try it again tonight in Los Angeles, hoping for a bigger welcome than they received here.

The Cow Palace was just over half-filled with 8,057 paying spectators. The promoters made money but they lost enough on an earlier game between Minneapolis and Syracuse to finish about $2,500 behind on the two promotions.

Fred Scollar, the former pro who staged the game, said, "The folks need a hometown interest in the game. If we had our own team, I think it would be different."

Bob Short, president of the Lakers, didn't offer any hope of a move here. "We're still trying to stay in Minneapolis," he said.

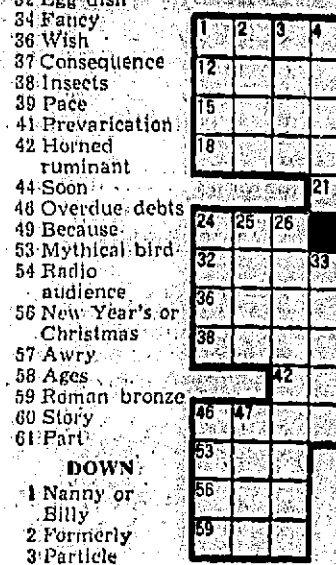

The 7-foot-2 Chamberlain's final basket, a dunk with 35 seconds left, broke the arena record of 39 set by Ron Tombs of Stanford.

Fulkner Farmers to War on Rats

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Fulkner County farmers have declared war on an estimated 30,000 rats. County Agent James Hill said 2,600 pounds of poisoned bait was set out last week.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

CHAPTER XIX

"If," said Weeks gently, "you want to learn things you never dreamt of, come and travel with us for a month. Human nature, we'll teach you, and the work of nimble fingers, and the ease with which yokels can be made to balk themselves. Sharps, Mr. Applegate, don't have to be so sharp. It's the cupid of people makes it easy for us. Smart Alces trying to overreach us. Get something for nothing. Now, off-hand, you might say, Mr. Applegate, that we played tricks on folks and maybe weren't a hundred per cent honest. But if there wasn't a broad streak of dishonesty in the crowds that come to see us, we'd have no luck."

"I was enjoying myself; of such frank a reality I never had dreamed. These people did not seem to me to be so much immoral as amoral. They made no effort to justify themselves, but seemed to be convinced that they were merely holding their own in a dog-eat-dog world, and that there was no wrong in cheating somebody before that somebody could cheat them."

"But," I protested, "everybody in the world isn't trying to cheat everybody else. Syracuse is full of people of rectitude and integrity, living normal, honorable lives."

"To be sure," said Weeks. "Like those upstanding citizens who are making money hand over fist exhibiting a fake stone giant. I even hear rumors you had a mur-

Belleville, who removed McMath and suspended the charter, had ordered the investigation.

McMath 18-year-old son of former Gov. Sid McMath, appeared before the committee to defend himself. He insisted he was deposed because he supported "principles of the national Democratic Party rather than the political doctrine of the current Arkansas administration."

In reply, Hale detailed charges and accusations against McMath. The committee refused McMath's request for a rebuttal and passed resolutions restoring the charter of the reorganized club and declaring McMath guilty. Gail Coward of Alma now is president of the U of A group.

der here not so long ago."

"Oh, that," I said. "It was a dreadful thing. The victim was found in my father's barn, sitting in his carriage."

"And nobody," said Weeks, "has been arrested for it. Why not, Mr. Applegate? Somebody have influence?"

"No, indeed," I protested. "The dead man has not even been identified. No one in Syracuse ever had seen him alive."

"Somebody must have," Weeks said. "He didn't strangle himself, did he?"

"No. But he was exposed in the undertaking parlor as long as it was possible, and hundreds looked at him without identifying him."

"What kind of a looking hair-pin was this fellow?" asked the pickpocket, who sat next to me.

"A large, beefy man," I told him, "with burnside whiskers, kind of reddish color, and pale pop eyes."

"Dew tell," exclaimed the man with the deft fingers. "Now he wouldn't maybe have had him on his right cheek a kind of a purple mole about the size of a sixpence?"

"There was silence about that table — an ominous sort of silence. The members of the troupe looked at one another with narrowed, malicious eyes. Then, after a moment, all was as it had been."

Mr. Weeks shrugged. "For a moment," he said, "we thought it might be someone we knew."

"It was," murmured the dull-witted boy who was able to disjoin himself. "I knowed right off when he said about the cut-off finger. It was the Dook."

"Aw, shucks," said Mr. Weeks. "It couldn't have been."

"It was the Dook," reiterated the half-wit.

"All right," Weeks said after a moment. "It was the Duke. And if we didn't have to skedaddle out of town like we have, I'd make it my business to find out who treated our friend so."

"Me," said the slovenly girl who looked so lovely under the flaring lights at night. "I always said he'd come to a bad end. Always snooping. Always apyrin. Always tryin' to find out secrets. What I repeat is he come to the end I expected. He found out one secret too many."

"The Dook," said my light-fingered neighbor, "was a stoutish, heavy sort of man. Anybody that hung onto him and throttled him with his hands would have to be stronger'n that feller that fit battles with the jawbone of an ass."

"Only man I know of stout enough to do that, 'n' then hoist him into a carriage and set him down all neat and peaceful," declared the girl who sang ballads. "Was Bigfoot Swede."

"If he done it," said the mesmerizer, "then I calc'late not to make it none of my business."

"What," I asked, "was the Duke's real name?"

"Seems like I forget," Weeks said. "He was kind of chury of mentioning it."

Weeks stood up politely and extended his hand to me. "It has been educational meeting you, Mr. Applegate," he said graciously. "I hope we meet some time again."

After that I had to shake hands with all the members of the troupe, including the boy who could disjoin himself. And then I strolled back into my office.

As I walked along, I had to face the fact that the most promising piece of law business that had come my way had blown up in my face and Lossie would laugh at me for being so thoroughly taken in by a scoundrel. And I would have been taken in, had it not been for Madam Janeway and her warning. I might even have become an innocent party to a fraud and a sharer in its profits.

Marathon for Dimes at NLR Radio Station

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Describing themselves as "mighty beat" but still cheerful, a 21-year-old disc jockey and a 40-year-old Marine recruiting sergeant today headed into the home stretch of a March of Dimes broadcasting marathon.

Deejay Johnny King and Sgt. Hal Briggs had raised $2,265 since they started the marathon at Radio Station KXLR at 4 p.m. (CST) Friday.

They planned to keep on with variety acts, chat chat and record playing — forfeiting sleep — until midnight tonight or until $3,000 was raised.

Assistance came from all over town. A shapely 18-year-old North Little Rock redhead, Eva Bennett, offered to auction off a chance to comb her 4½-foot-long hair. A group of sailors in the listening audience bid $41.50 and won the auction.

The girl will be attired in a two-piece bathing suit when the sailors comb her locks at noon Tuesday — in front of a downtown bank.

King and Briggs picked up momentum with variety acts and records. Sunday afternoon they reached the $2,000 mark — a predetermined stopping place.

But no one wanted to stop. The studio was full of well-wishers and King and Briggs felt like going on.

A doctor examined them late last night. He told King to take it easy but the robust Briggs was pronounced in perfect shape.

New Railway Assessment Formula Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A proposal to initiate a constitutional amendment to alter the assessment formula of railroads and utilities will go to the Arkansas Education Assn. Council in March.

Eugene R. Warren of Little Rock, AEA attorney, said the association's legislative committee prepared the proposal, which would have income of railroads and utilities capitalized before payment of state and federal income taxes.

Income for assessment purposes now is figured after the tax is paid, Warren said the committee

Denies Increase in Auto Liability Rates

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Harvey Combs has rejected a request for an increase in automobile liability insurance rates, citing two recent boosts.

Combs said increases of 14 per cent in April of 1957 and 23.5 per cent in December of 1958 "were very substantial, possibly by the end of the year, when these increases have had time to become effective, there will be no need for further increases."

Companies which Combs said wrote 31 per cent of the auto liability coverage in the state had asked for increases of 5.3 per cent on private cars, 14.2 per cent on commercial vehicles and 12 per cent on garages. Combs noted that companies writing 60 per cent of the coverage did not seek an increase.

felt this gave railroads and utilities a tax advantage which caused financial hardship for some school districts.

The committee also favors a penalty for companies which avoid paying taxes while appealing assessments.

The legislative committee also urged passage of a bill to give federal aid to education, recommended legislation to allow use of state funds to amortize bonds of the University of Arkansas and state colleges for classroom and library construction, and urged consideration of the need for school district reorganization to conform with shifting populations.
